

Bianco, Daniela

The European House - Ambrosetti

Daniela Bianco is Member of the Board of The European House - Ambrosetti and TEHA Group. She has been a Partner since January 2015.

She is also the Head of the Healthcare Practice and has handled many projects over the years in the field of strategy, organizational change and development of scenarios and sector studies for Italian and international clients. In 2005 she participated in the design and development of the Meridiano Sanità think tank, a platform for study and discussion with the main stakeholders in the health care sector carried out in partnership with a small group of companies in the pharmaceutical sector. She is responsible for the realization of the Meridiano Sanità Report which is presented at the annual Forum in November. In 1997 she started working at Millward Brown and later, from 1998 to 2001, at Bayer. In 2001 she joined the Group in the Strategy Division. She holds a degree in Business Economics, with a major in marketing, from the Bocconi University in Milan, where she graduated in 1997.