

Brooks, Eleanor

University of Edinburgh

Dr Eleanor Brooks is a lecturer in health policy in the Global Health Policy Unit at the University of Edinburgh, and a scientific advisor to the European Public Health Alliance, Brussels. She currently holds a UKRI Future Leaders Fellowship, studying the impact of the Better Regulation Agenda on European Union health policy, and her broader research explores the changing governance of health within the EU.