

Casey, Laura

Department of Health, Ireland

Laura Casey has been the head of the Health Systems and Structures Unit, within the Policy and Strategy Division of the Department of Health (Ireland) since 2016. She has overseen a number of major initiatives including a review of capacity in the health system, a review of the role of not-for-profit organisations in health services, and the development of a health system-wide reform implementation programme called Sláintecare. She is currently responsible for a key strand of the reform programme relating to health system governance and accountability, which will include the establishment of regional health authorities. Laura previously worked in the Department of Education with responsibility for higher education funding policy.
