Modoran, Cristina
European Commission Directorate-General for Health and Food Safety

Cristina Modoran is Head of the Policy Strategy Unit at the European Commission's Directorate-General for Health and Food Safety (DG SANTE). In this role, she leads a team providing strategic advice to shape the EU's health and food safety priorities and to support key Commission initiatives.

With over 15 years of experience in EU institutions, Cristina has a solid track record in EU policy-making, including key roles in managing the COVID-19 health crisis. Her earlier career focused on trade policy, international negotiations, and development cooperation—reflecting a strong foundation in external relations and strategic partnerships.
