

Curtarelli, Maurizio

European Agency for Safety and Health at Work

Maurizio Curtarelli holds a MSc in Social Research Methods and Statistics from the City University of London and a PhD in Economics from the University of Rome III, and currently works as a Senior Research Project Manager at the Prevention and Research Unit of the European Agency for Safety and Health at Work in Bilbao, where he leads research on climate change and on the digitalization of work and their implications for occupational health and safety. He previously worked as a researcher at the European Foundation for the Improvement of Living and Working Conditions in Dublin and at the National Institute for Public Policy Analysis in Rome.