Public Health Wales

Dr Mariana Dyakova, MD, MPH, PhD, FFPH(UK) A consultant in public health medicine and deputy director (international lead) for Policy, Research and International Development in Public Health Wales; leading the Welsh International Health Co-ordination Centre; academic role as an honorary clinical lecturer at the University of Warwick. My research and applied interests are in the areas of public health policy; investment for health and wellbeing; evidence translation and implementation into policy and practice; sustainable development and health; cardiovascular diseases prevention and risk assessment; cross-sectoral governance and integration of care; public health advocacy and communication. Originally from Bulgaria, I have gained my academic, policy and practical experience across Europe, actively involved in public health capacity building, research and European integration in South Eastern Europe. From 2010 I have been working for the University of Warwick, Public Health England, the National Health Service (NHS) and the local government in the UK. I also took a position as a Technical Officer for policy and governance for health and wellbeing in the World Health Organization (WHO) Regional Office for Europe, Copenhagen. Presently I am working closely with the WHO European Office for Investment for Health and Development in Venice, the Regions for Health Networks and EuroHealthNet.
