

Ekman, Mathias

Microsoft

Mathias Ekman is Director Industry Solutions Executive for Health and Life Science at Microsoft Western Europe. His role is to work with key stakeholders at Governments as well as innovative start-ups to accelerate the digital transformation. The goal is together with the partner ecosystem democratize AI and clinical knowledge in order to address some of the hardest challenges in society.

He joined Microsoft in 2014, prior to this he held several leading positions at different consultant companies working with clients in the field of connected vehicle, advanced analytics in the financial sector as well as establishing solutions for screening of colorectal cancer.

Mathias holds a PhD in Theoretical Physics focusing on large scale computing for solving problems explained by quantum physics.

(last updated 28.09.2018)