

Carini, Elettra

Italian National Agency for Regional Healthcare Services

Elettra Carini, medical doctor specialist in public health. From January 2023 I am part of the 'NRRP Project Unit' within the Italian national agency for regional healthcare (AGENAS) which is directly accountable for the implementation of major investments of the National Recovery and Resilience Plan concerning digital health. In particular, I am involved in the implementation of the Artificial Intelligence investment that will provide primary care professionals with a platform that uses AI tools to support both clinical and administrative activities. I am also part of the AGENAS team which is leading Work Package 4 "Sustainability" within CIRCE-JA.
