Ganzerla, Silvia
EuroHealthNet

Silvia is EuroHealthNet's Policy Manager and holds almost 20 years of work experience in European advocacy, policy analysis, and EU project management. At EuroHealthNet, she leads European advocacy work and policy development, promoting health equity and the wellbeing economy, as well as contributing to the overall management of the organisation. Silvia has experience in designing capacity-building and mutual learning programmes, covering a variety of topics such as fighting poverty, inclusive employment, health promotion measures, better access to EU funds, and investment in social infrastructure.

Silvia holds a Master's degree in European Policy Evaluation from the University of Bath and Roskilde and a Master in Urban Economic Development from the University of Birmingham. She took her first degree in political science at Pavia University and graduated with a dissertation on EU environmental policy.
