EuropaColon Slovenia

Metka Glas is Vice-President and Head of Programmes & Projects at EuropaColon Slovenia, the country's leading organisation supporting people affected by digestive cancers and their families. With more than a decade of experience in patient advocacy, education and programme development, she works to strengthen patient engagement, early detection and access to quality care. A former family caregiver and certified coach, she also serves on several national and European advisory bodies, ensuring that patient perspectives inform healthcare programmes and policy development.
