

Hamilton, Ian

University of York

Ian is associate professor of addiction at the University of York. Ian teaches and conducts research on drug use and policy. He trained as a mental health nurse and worked with people who had mental health and drug problems. He writes a column for The Independent about drugs.