Association Internationale de la Mutualité (AIM)

Corinna Hartrampf is a Brussels-based EU health policy specialist with more than 15 years of experience working at the intersection of European health policy, law and public affairs. As Senior Project Manager at the Association Internationale de la Mutualité (AIM), she works on key European health policy issues, with a particular focus on digital health, pharmaceuticals, medical devices and the evolving EU health policy framework.

Corinna brings the perspective of health mutuals and payers to European policy debates and works closely with EU institutions and international organisations, including the European Commission, WHO Europe and the OECD. Her work focuses on translating complex regulatory and policy developments into practical strategies for health systems and AIM's members, while building dialogue between policymakers, healthcare stakeholders and payers.

A qualified German lawyer with an LL.M. in Medical Law, Corinna has a particular interest in how European regulation can support innovation while ensuring patient safety, equitable access and sustainable health systems.
