

Henson, David

Go Assistive Technology

David is an engineer and entrepreneur working at the intersection of rehabilitation, assistive technology and health system strengthening. He is Co-founder of Go Assistive Technology, which focuses on the development of affordable prosthetic and assistive technologies designed for low-resource settings