Kulja, András Tivadar
European Parliament

András Tivadar Kulja is a Hungarian surgeon, accomplished digital health expert, and politician of the Tisza Party, elected as member of the European Parliament in June 2024. His social media posts and videos on health education across several platforms, especially on TikTok, with over 100 million views, prevailed during the Covid-19 pandemic, in an attempt to fight disinformation. Former Lecturer of Health and Science Communication at Semmelweis University, András is now serving as the Vice-Chair in the Committee of Environment, Health and Food Safety (ENVI) of the European Parliament, and Vice-Coordinatoor for the biggest political group, European People's Party (EPP), in the Public Health Committee (SANT).
