Schwarz, Maximilian
Austrian Public Health Institute

Maximilian Schwarz is a general practitioner with a Master's in Public Health from Johns Hopkins University and additional training in Medical Law from the Danube University Krems. Since February 2023, he has been working at the Austrian Public Health Institute (GÖG) in the Department for Primary Health Care and Coordination of Health Service Delivery. In this capacity, he represents GÖG as a consortium partner in the EU initiative CIRCE – Transfer of Best Practices in Pri-mary Care.

Maximilian Schwarz is an active contributor to academic and professional communities, serving as a peer reviewer for scientific journals and presenting at numerous conferences. He also holds teaching roles at the Paracelsus Medical University, the University of Applied Sciences Salzburg, and the Medical University of Vienna, covering topics related to public health and primary care. Additionally, he is a member of the Advisory Board of the European Forum for Primary Care.

Alongside his work at GÖG, Maximilian Schwarz practices part-time as a general practitioner in Krems and surrounding areas, as well as in a psychiatric rehabilitation clinic in Hollenburg. With previous roles as an epidemic doctor and ward physician, his career reflects a strong dedication to advancing primary care and public health at both national and international levels.
