

Mühle, Ursula

EIT Health

Ursula is the Director of Education of EIT Health. She oversees and is responsible for a portfolio of education and training activities for students, entrepreneurs, professionals as well as citizens that target at educating for innovation while innovating education in itself. Ursula obtained her studies at the LMU Munich, the London School of Economics, and University Bielefeld. She has more than 15 years of experience of setting up, managing and directing programs in science, research and education management of international multi-stakeholder formats. By having worked both in leading organizations in the academic and private sector, Ursula enjoys to build strong networks of stakeholders that create true impact in health and beyond