Ofner, Robert
A&O Solar

Since 2020 I'm Co - Founder and managing partner at A&O Solar, a start up to accelerate the energy transition towards 100% renewables. This is a fundamental building block to mitigate the climate crisis and contribute to the revolution of our economic model.

Former junior researcher at Carinthia University of Applied Sciences. Institute of Applied Research on Aging. I was involved in several projects surrounding the topic e.g. http://www.smart-vitaality.at/ In addition I taught a course on demographic change.

Former research associate at Paracelsus Medical University in Salzburg/Austria, responsible for the coordination of the WHO Collaborating Centre for Nursing Research and Education. We focused in our collaboration with the WHO Regional Office for Europe at palliative care projects. Moreover I was teaching introduction classes into public health, health promotion, health impact assessment and health psychology as well as supervising bachelor theses.
