

Peñalva, Germán

EU-JAMRAI Joint Action and Institute of Biomedicine of Seville (IBiS)

German Penalva Research Associate at the Infectious Diseases Research Group 'Antimicrobials and bacterial resistance' of the Institute of Biomedicine of Seville (IBiS). Researcher granted by the Spanish Network for Research in Infectious Diseases (REIPI), working on antimicrobial stewardship programmes in the Clinical Unit of Infectious Diseases, Microbiology and Preventive Medicine at the University Hospital Virgen del Rocío of the Andalusian Health Service, Spain. Member of the Spanish Society of Infectious Diseases and Clinical Microbiology (SEIMC), and the European Society of Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases (ESCMID). Member of the coordination team for task 7.4.1 'Develop and test near real-time surveillance of antimicrobials and multidrug-resistant bacteria in human medicine', of the European Joint Action on Antimicrobial Resistance and Healthcare-Associated Infections (EU-JAMRAI).