

Pförringer, Dominik

University Hospital Munich Rechts der Isar

Privatdozent Dr. med. Dominik Pförringer is a specialist in orthopaedics and trauma surgery at the TU university hospital and his own practice in Munich. After studying medicine and earning an MBA at INSEAD, he initially worked as a management consultant before he completed his specialist training in orthopaedics and trauma surgery in 2016 and did his habilitation in 2018. In 2015, he founded the working group "Digitalization & Health Services Research" at the Chair of Trauma Surgery at the TU Munich. He is a member of the DRG working group of the German Society for Orthopaedics and Trauma Surgery (DGOU). Since 2018, Pförringer has been Co-Chairman of the AG Digitalisierung der DGOU. He regularly organizes conferences on the subject of digital medicine.