

Pushkarev, Nikolai

EPHA

Nikolai Pushkarev is policy coordinator on food, drink and agriculture at the European Public Health Alliance (Epha), Europe's leading civil society network working for better health in all policies. Previous experiences include human rights, environment, energy, development and work in the cultural and private sectors. He gained an MA in European Law from Maastricht University and a postgraduate degree in agricultural economics through the School of Oriental and African Studies (University of London).