Radeva, Petia
ICREA Academia, Universitat de Barcelona

Prof. Petia Radeva is a Full professor at the Universitat de Barcelona (UB), PI of the Consolidated Research Group "Computer Vision and Machine Learning" at the University of Barcelona (CVUB) at UB (www.ub.edu/cvub) and Senior researcher in Computer Vision Center (www.cvc.uab.es). She was PI of UB in several European, international and national projects devoted to applying Computer Vision and Machine learning for real problems like food intake monitoring (e.g. for patients with kidney transplants and for older people). Petia Radeva is a REA-FET-OPEN vice-chair from 2015 and international mentor in the Wild Cards EIT program. She is an Associate editor of Pattern Recognition journal (Q1) and International Journal of Visual Communication and Image Representation (Q2), IAPR Fellow since 2015, ICREA Academia for her scientific merits since 2014, received several international awards ("Aurora Pons Porrata" of CIARP, Prize "Antonio Caparrós" for the best technology transfer, etc). She supervised 16 PhD students and published more than 90 SCI journal publications and 250 international chapters and proceedings, her h-index is 43 with more than 7000 cites.