

Ryan, Anastacia

International Committee on the rights of Sex Workers in Europe

Anastacia works with the International Committee on the Rights of Sex Workers In Europe (ICRSE) as Health & HIV Officer. Anastacia previously worked for the Global Network of Sex Work Projects (NSWP) and spent the first half of her post in the Asia-Pacific region where she developed her interest and expertise in sex worker led health programming and advocacy around HIV prevention, treatment access and support for sex workers living with HIV.

Anastacia is a board member of SCOT-PEP, and co-founder of Umbrella Lane, two sex worker led projects in Scotland. Anastacia's role within ICRSE is to develop and facilitate health programming training by and for sex workers across Europe, Eastern Europe and Central Asia, and to input sex worker voices and experiences into national, regional and international policy forums.

Anastacia has a particular interest in the use, efficacy and consequences of new technologies in HIV prevention amongst key populations, namely sex workers.
