

Safford, Judith

RheumaCura Foundation

Judith is an economist (Dr. rer. pol), who has dedicated her professional life to excellence in non-profit management. Affected by chronic disease including inflammatory arthritis since early adulthood, she is works as a consultant and patient advocate. Her special interest is the involvement of patients in healthcare, particularly through participation in medical research. She writes a blog at arthritisandme.ch and is founder and President of the RheumaCura Foundation.