EUROPEAN HEALTH FORUM
GASTEIN

Sitaram, Anya
Rockhopper TV

Anya Sitaram is a communications consultant and professional conference moderator specialising in health, science, environment and international development. A former BBC news anchor, Health and Science Correspondent and BBC Tomorrows World presenter, Anya is founding director at Rockhopper Media, an award winning television and film production company. Anya leads the productionof documentary films for broadcasters; educational, advocacy and campaign films for UN bodies,charities and NGO's and promotional videos for corporate clients. She has overseen 300 plusdocumentaries which have run on BBC World News, Discovery, PBS, National Geographic and AlJazeera among others. Anya began her career as a BBC trainee before becoming ITN Health and Science Correspondent and later a presenter on the BBC's flagship science programme Tomorrow'sWorld where she reported on medical breakthroughs around the world. Anya was also an anchor on Sky News and BBC World news. Anya has recently been working as a communications consultant for NHS England on the COVID-19 response.