

Sivelä, Jonas

National Institute for Health and Welfare, Finland

Dr. Jonas Sivelä is a Senior Researcher at the Unit for Infectious Disease Control and Vaccination at the National Institute for Health and Welfare in Finland THL. He is responsible for activities and research related to vaccine resistance and confidence in Finland. Sivelä conducted his PhD about AIDS-related myths and misconceptions in South Africa. He has worked mainly with ethnographic and other qualitative methods. He also has an extensive professional background in communications and journalism.

(last updated 02.10.2017)