EUROPEAN HEALTH FORUM
GASTEIN

Staatsen, Brigit
National Institute for Public Health and the Environment (RIVM)

Brigit Staatsen is senior-researcher at the National Institute for Public Health and the Environment (RIVM) in the Netherlands. Her field of interest is developing a healthy living environment. Through her work for the Dutch Health Council and RIVM, she has developed expertise in Health Impact Assessment, healthy mobility, healthy cities, indicator development, and health information systems. She has been chair of the technical working group on indicators for the EU?Action Programme on Environment and Health (SCALE) and chair of the EU DGSANCO Working Party on Environment and Health (2004-2008). She has coordinated two projects for EEA in the field of Foresight on Environmental Stressors and Health (FRESH). Currently, she is work-package leader in the EU funded INHERIT project (www.inherit.eu) and member of the WHO Environment and Health Task Force. She also acts as an advisor for the Ministry of Infrastructure and Environment on the implementation of the "Health in Environment" Program.

(last update 29.09.2017)