EUROPEAN HEALTH FORUM
GASTEIN

Tainijoki-Seyer, Julia
World Medical Association

Julia Tainijoki-Seyer, Senior Advocacy and Medical Adviser, World Medical Association

Dr Tainijoki-Seyer manages a variety of strategic projects at WMA ranging from infectious and non-communicable diseases to strengthening health systems, patient safety, access to quality-assured medicines and the social determinants of health. Dr Tainijoki-Seyer serves as the WMA representative to the UN organizations, including WHO and other international institutions in Geneva, Switzerland. She also heads the secretariat of the World Health Professions Alliance (WHPA) representing more than 26 million healthcare professionals globally. Dr Tainijoki-Seyer is a family physician with a Master's in International Health Economy and Policy from the University of Bocconi in Milan, Italy.

/last updated: 01.10.2017/