

Tolonen, Hanna

National Institute for Health and Welfare

Hanna Tolonen is currently working as research manager at the Finnish Institute for Health and Welfare (THL). She has worked over 20 years on the field of harmonization and comparability of health examination surveys. Her speciality is standardization of measurements for cross-country comparisons and issues relating to representativeness of survey outcomes, i.e. non-response. She has been coordinating several European level initiatives relating to standardization of health examination surveys and is currently leading the EHES initiative. She has Adjunct Professorship in public health, PhD in epidemiology/public health and MSc in statistics.